DETAILED ACTION

1. This Office action is in response to the amendment filed July 28, 2003 in which claims 1-19 are now cancelled and claims 20-29 are added.
2. The rejection of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over WO9743210 is withdrawn in view of the amendment canceling the claims in question.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 20-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Zhang (US 5,783,105).

Zhang teaches an oxygen generating composition comprising 0.5-15% by weight of tin powder as a fuel, from 0-15% by weight of a transition metal oxide catalyst, about 0.5-5% by weight of an alkaline compound as a chlorine remover and reaction rate modifier, an oxygen source selected from the group consisting of alkali metal chlorates, alkali metal perchlorates and mixtures thereof and up to about 5% of a binder (see abstract). The alkaline compound acting as a chlorine remover and reaction rate modifier may be a peroxide such as strontium peroxide (see column 4, lines 38-50). The preformed chlorate is sodium chlorate and the preferred perchlorate is potassium perchlorate (see column 5, lines 7-12). The binder may be glass powder, glass fiber, ceramic fiber, etc. (see column 4, lines 56-65). Zhang teaches the limitations of the claims other than the difference that is discussed below.

Zhang does not teach that the alkaline compound (strontium peroxide) is a catalyst. However, no unobviousness is seen in this difference because Zhang does not require a catalyst and if strontium peroxide functions as a catalyst in the present invention it would also function as a catalyst in the composition of Zhang.

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
